

Saruni Rhino & Black Rhino Tracking Experience

Sera Community Conservancy, Northern Kenya

In February 2017, Saruni was proud to expand its luxury collection of lodges and tented camps with the opening of 'Saruni Rhino' in Sera Community Conservancy, Northern Kenya. The secluded 3-banda camp, in partnership with Sera Conservancy, offers the first rhino tracking experience in East Africa, an amazing adventure providing a uniquely thrilling 'up close and personal' encounter, but also allows guests to actively contribute to the protection of this iconic species.

Comprised of three elegant 'bandas' (rustic stone cottages), - 2 double units & 1 family unit - sleeping a total of 8 guests and a main 'mess' cottage for dining and relaxing, Saruni Rhino is nestled amidst swaying doum palms dotted along a dry river bed (the Kauro 'lugga', in the heart of the conservancy) with sweeping views of a nearby waterhole and dramatic landscape so typical of the north. There is also a beautiful infinity swimming pool, built in harmony with the natural beauty of the surrounding landscape. Guests can enjoy a few laps in the curved pool, whilst delighting in the beach-club feel of the sandy, dry river bed and swaying palms, along-side.

The waterhole is a popular watering stop-off for a diverse range of wildlife: large herds of elephant, impala, birdlife, hyena, oryx, Grevy's zebra and much more, making it great 'bush TV' from the comfort of your cottage's sandy verandah at any time. The dry river bed proves the quintessential torch-lit bush dinner location under the vast African skies. Whilst staying at Saruni Rhino is an experience in itself; echoing the origins of safari - exploring remote areas of a yet largely undiscovered terrain, the main draw to the area is the reason for our camp's name sake - the Rhino.

Conservation & Tracking fees (payable extra):

CONSERVATION FEES + RHINO TRACKING TOTAL USD PP	CONSERVATION FEES (Child aged 5-16)* TOTAL USD PP
