Announcing the
NEW BALLOON Type SNUBBERS

The new Gabriel Balloon-Type Snubber, for use with balloon and low-pressure tires, is, we believe, the greatest advancement in 20 years toward greater motoring comfort, riding ease and safety.

The increased spring action and the greater upthrow which result when balloon or low-pressure tires encounter unusually large road bumps, are now for the first time, scientifically and thoroughly controlled.

At the same time, the new balloon-type Gabriel Snubber is so constructed that it permits absolutely free play both spring and tire for their own absorption of small irregularities on apparently smooth roads.

In response to the demand of the public, the motor car manufacturer, and the tire manufacturer, Gabriel has produced a balloon-type snubber to meet the exacting requirements of balloon and low-pressure tires.

Gabriel is the only spring control device officially, by patent and copyright, entitled to the name Snubber. Carry the authorized Gabriel Snubber Sales and Service Station. Motor car dealers who recommend Gabriel Snubbers and replace them as well.

Powder That Won the Battle of Kings Mountain Was the Gift of Heroic Woman of the Mountains

SHELBY, Sept. 27—The gun powder that won the battle of Kings Mountain, which was the turning point in the American fight for freedom, has never until now been known as the gift for her country's cause of a heroic plain woman—which is the trend of an age-old historic story unearthed in this county last week.

Mary Patton, before marriage, Mary McFadden, born and reared in England contributed in a great extent to the death of Colonel Ferguson, leader of the "red coats," who by countrymen—aided in the independence of her adopted people, and yet until last week her name was unknown to the people who live within sight of the battle ground, a shrine in the hearts of American lovers of freedom.

The revelation of the true story of Mary Patton could not have come at a better time. With about next, thousands of Americans will gather at Gilbert's Mountain in celebrations of the 144th anniversary of the famous battle. Some of the most prominent Americans from all sections of the country will attend, and thousands that day—Tuesday, October 7—will pay tribute to Colonel Shelby, Colonel Campbell, and the rugged North and South Carolina mountaineers and their deadly marksmen, who had brought about the downfall of Ferguson and his men. But now Mary Patton will come in for the glory she should have had in song or rather a century ago. The only glory that she ever received for the victorious fight 144 years ago was the thought that without the powder she made the battle could never have been won.

Out on Shelby Route 3, lives Mrs. E. F. Gidforth, a direct descendant of Mary Patton. To honor Mrs. Gidforth should not be sitting of the big celebration in the offing. To her mind the men are recalled an old newspaper in her store of valuables, and brought to light the paper—The Carter County Hasset, published in Elizabethtown, Tennessee—told a historic story, one never heard before in this section regardless the famous battle. The story was told through the mothers of T. V. Gibson, a great grandson.

Born in England

Mary McFadden born and reared in young womanhood in England came to America and landed Carlisle, Pa. There she met and John Patton, who came to America from Ireland, and they are married and lived for a time Carlisle. While a girl in England Mary Patton learned the

Died in 1826

Mary Patton died in her 81 year of age, dying on the farm now owned by James Norfolk at the head of Powder Branch on December 11, 1826. Her husband was buried in a graveyard near that time church in the same cove.

Dying He Generations

The story was handed down by generations, the reliable history of the mountain people. Mary Patton reared a grandson, F. E. Patton, who for years helped her make powder in the powder mill on Powder Branch, and the story was first told by him to his son T. V. Patton, who related it to the Tennessee newspaper.

A movement is now on foot in this county to have Mrs. Gidforth, a great, great granddaughter, attend the celebration at the battle ground week after next as a representative of the Patton family and to receive the honor long due the name of the heroic woman of the Tennessee hills.

BAPTISTS TO LAUNCH 75 MILLION CAMPAIGN

Church Leaders of State Meet in Raleigh to Outline Plans.

By WALTER M. GILMORE

RALEIGH, Sept. 30.—M. the ...ll of Secretary Charles E. Mad... who is the executive head of ...e Baptist Mission work in North ...rolina, the steering committee ...the 75 million campaign, to ...ce with all the heads of departments of the Board of Missions ...n this city Monday to outline the plan of operations in finishing up the 75 million campaign the fall and at the same time to launch the new program of 1925. This steering committee of 15 members, of which Dr. Charles L. Greason of this city is chairman, was appointed by the last State convention and is widely scattered throughout the state.

The committee found itself confronted with the gigantic task of doing between now and December 31 a million and a half dollars to complete the 75 million campaign, and the 1925 program of North Carolina Baptists calls for the raising of a million dollars. In the face of such a large undertaking not a pessimistic note was sounded. On the other hand there was perfect unanimity on the part of the committee that the high goal could be reached and they proceeded to plan for its accomplishment. Practically every one of the 44 Baptist Associations have been organized and plans were laid to organize out to the last church and to reach the last individual of the 340,000 Baptist church members in the State with the two-fold program.

Every one of the associations that have met so far have accepted cheerfully their apportioned objective for next year. A most encouraging fact is that the Woman's Missionary Union of the State, which has a membership of approximately 47,000 women out of a constituency of about 110,000 women, has accepted one third of the million dollar quota for next year. That means that 300,000 other Baptist men and women still have to raise the other two thirds of a million. The last week in November will be known among South Carolina Baptists as "Completion Week." Every effort possible will be brought to bear that week to finish worthily the five-year campaign, which has been known as the 75 Million Campaign. The following week, beginning November 30, this new one-year program will be put on, which will not become effective till January 1. The Baptist state convention will meet in Raleigh December 3. If there should be any shortage in either campaign at that time it is thought that sufficient interest will be gained at the convention for the delegates to go back to their churches and complete the task by the end of the year.

A very valuable addition to the force of the general workers is Dr. Charles Anderson, of Scotland Neck, who has rendered invaluable service for many years in directing the Roanoke Association in addition to being pastor of the First Baptist Church. Dr. Anderson will have his headquarters in Fayetteville and will operate throughout the eastern end of the State.

Dr. L. R. Scarborough, general director of the 75 Million Campaign since it was launched, and Dr. C. E. Burts, of Nashville, Tenn., general director of the 1925 program, will make a speaking tour through the State ... Raleigh, ending November ... It is expected to secure 200 pastors who will go afield in the State on speaking tours when the local churches. The heads of all the Baptist schools and colleges of the State have been ordered to give this service also.

Our Banks Must Advance
With the Progress of ASHEVILLE!

The several banking institutions that serve the splendid people of Asheville and Western North Carolina must adjust their ways to the larger city of today. Must base their business methods upon the rapid development of the whole prosperous section roundabout.

Our banks must advance with the progress of our own thriving center of life. These institutions are now handling annual transactions that approach the vast sum of three hundred millions. Every safeguard must surround such vital affairs. Every forethought must provide accuracy, efficiency and responsiveness.

The above forceful statement is being mailed today to all Bank Depositors in the city by the Asheville Clearing House Association.

As Usual—
The Bankers Are Right

Asheville is headed for a quarter of a million population. The city is now growing so rapidly, so surely, so soundly and so definitely that Metropolitan methods are becoming absolutely essential. In a short time natural trade centers will form for the economic conduct of allied industries.

Owing to the large volume handled, the space required for proper demonstration, and the small margin of commission paid, one of the first industries to vision the wisdom of location in the business area of least resistance is the Automobile Trade. Several of the livest automobile agencies in the city have discussed Coxe Avenue as the logical automobile center where trade will come naturally, and the overhead expense be decidedly less than any other desirable place in the city. Some have obtained options on sites in Coxe Avenue auto center; others have actually made purchases. Exceptionally long terms will be given all early purchasers.
