

Guide to Meetings & Events

LODGE ON THE DESERT

A Tucson Classic.

Tucson, Arizona

A community that for centuries has been the place to meet, trade, exchange ideas, enjoy festivals and live in the wild, wild West.

Rich history, diverse culture and Old World tradition set Tucson apart from other cities. History recognizes Tucson as an outpost of Spanish, Mexican and U.S. jurisdictions located in the midst of a long-settled Native American community. Tucson's culture has been touched by the local population, as well as by all those who have traveled to and through the area. And centuries-old traditions have been passed from parent to child in the longest continuously inhabited region in the United States.

Come experience the unique spirit of Tucson – an indescribable feeling one gets when enveloped by clear starlit skies, majestic mountains and the beautiful Sonoran Desert.

High desert. A contradiction in terms. Here lush indigenous vegetation ultimately yields to the rugged beauty of the Santa Catalina Mountains. This unique environment is a natural catalyst for creative meetings and events. In fact, the setting is inspirational. Yes, Tucson will surprise you.

Lodge on the Desert— traditional, historic, contemporary.

Arrive at Lodge on the Desert and revel in five dedicated urban resort acres located in the heart of mid-town Tucson. A striking juxtaposition of traditional rough-hewn woods, expansive glass walls and contemporary original artwork is testimony to Lodge's uniquely Southern Arizona look and feel. Deluxe accommodations reflect a distinctly uncluttered look and feel while, at the same time, offer practical and functional solutions for one- or several-night stays. At Lodge on the Desert guests may indulge their culinary senses at the restaurant and bar, whose classic, historic charm is complemented by trendy farm-to-table creations made with freshest local home-grown products and presented with passion. Walls of windows make dining indoors or out in the tranquil courtyard a treat year 'round.

It's all here – 103 comfortable guest rooms and suites, 3,700 square feet of diverse, flexible interior event space, in addition to 6,700 square feet of delightfully sophisticated outdoor event venues... complemented by decidedly luscious culinary creations.

Accommodations

Guest rooms and suites boast valued high and low-tech amenities ranging from Simmons® Beautyrest Black™ Beverly Hills™ Plush memory foam bedding wrapped in luxury linens, Green Natūra bath amenities, 32” or 42” HDTV, generous work space, laptop computer safe, complimentary high-speed wired and wireless Internet access and much more French, traditional or sliding glass doors as well as working windows invite fresh desert breezes and captivating views of inherently natural desert gardens and mini-residential style village courtyards, landscaped lawns and patios. Located in eleven guest casita-style buildings, all accommodations are within a quick stroll of Lodge services and amenities.

Dining & Entertainment

The restaurant is the ideal place to relish fresh new American cuisine at every daypart. Large windows flood the room with natural light, allowing guests to enjoy the tranquil, authentically mission-style courtyard. And outdoor dining is available 365 days a year! The bar is a convenient gathering spot where guests may mix and mingle in residential comfort while enjoying a hand-crafted cocktail or micro-brew.

Recreation

Prepare to enjoy numerous Tucson and Southern Arizona recreational activities during your visit to Lodge on the Desert. And definitely plan to relax at the intimate and contemporary Lodge pool area, immediately east of the Hacienda. Or play a complimentary round of croquet on one of the lush lawns. Golf may just be one of the greatest drivers of leisure guests to Tucson. Among other visitor favorites are hiking, biking, bird watching, astronomy, caving or exploring the plants and animals of the Arizona Sonoran desert. Nature enthusiasts revel in the area’s many outdoor possibilities. Tucson’s mild weather and wide range of scenery makes it a favorite destination. And shopping counts as a recreational pursuit unto itself!

Lodge on the Desert's meeting and event experiences will be remembered by how well the five senses – sight, smell, taste, touch and sound – are stimulated. This requires personal, experienced attention to every detail. At Lodge, you will find associates committed to exceeding the needs, wants and expectations of our guests.

And when it comes to banquets and theme events, we understand these are more than social occasions – they are essential to the success of your program. Our event planning managers excel in creating scrumptious menus complemented by inspired sights and sounds.

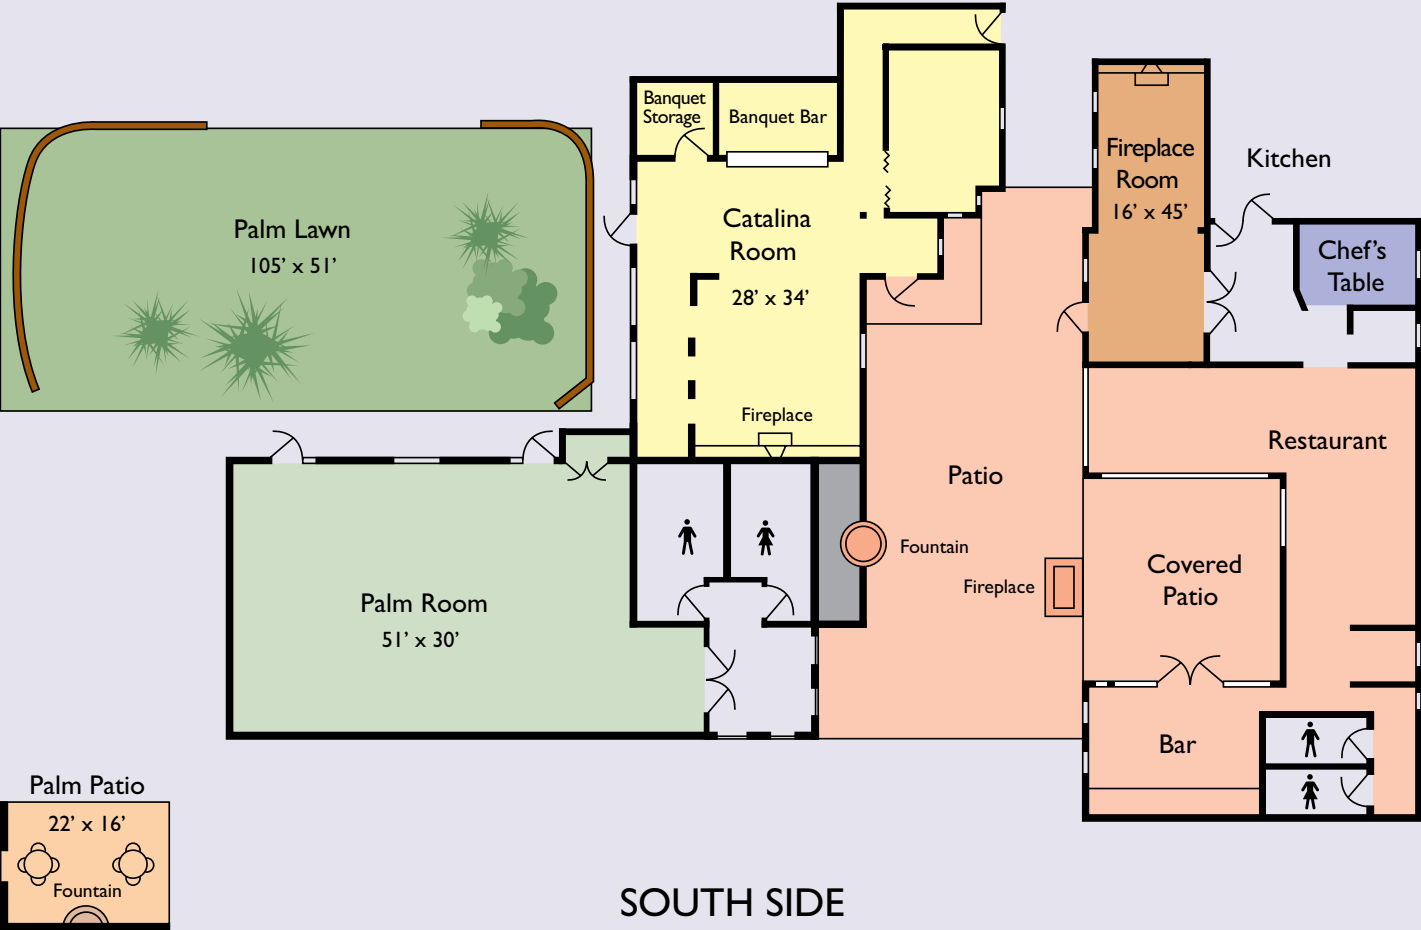

Meetings

Ideally suited for groups from 8 to 250, Lodge on the Desert's facilities combine function with comfort and convenience. Six meeting and banquet rooms are centrally located as are two outdoor lawns and two patio venues. Walls of windows in almost all event rooms reveal inspiring views of lush natural desert landscape and/or richly historic Mexican-style courtyards. Indoor and outdoor areas make for picture-perfect venues for professional or social gatherings.
