THE OFFICE

The Office is the biggest room in the Lloyd Hotel. The Office has preserved the rich, classic atmosphere of the time when it served as the main office for the Royal Dutch Lloyd shipping company. With original parquet flooring, oak-panelled walls and brass chandeliers, The Office recalls the adventure and elegance of the 1920s. The space welcomes conferences, dinners, wedding receptions, and any other event that might benefit from its stately atmosphere. The Office also adds a fashionably last-century edge to contemporary art exhibitions, DJ nights, weddings and birthday parties. The Office is 92 m².

LLOYD ROOM

Warm, comfortable, and sleek. The Lloyd room gives a personal touch to (business) meetings and special meals. It is served by a dedicated cloak room and the adjacent Salon. Abundant daylight spills in from a bank of windows on the north facade. Colourful linen from the Amsterdam design duo Scholten & Baijings lines one wall, offering a spirited feeling to the space. The Lloyd room is 79 m²

THE SALON

The Salon is a multifunctional, rectangular space at the front of the building that is conveniently situated on the ground floor and has views of the Eastern docklands. The Salon can be used for all kinds of purposes, such as presentations, (small) meetings, drinks, and even private dinners for up to 75 people. The lighting and room setup can be adjusted and customized to individual needs.

A small bar designed especially for The Salon can be placed in the room. Opposite is the restaurant with a larger bar. Like all spaces in Lloyd Hotel, The Salon breathes a sense of its history, a connection to its neighbourhood and responsiveness to the culture of its guests. The Salon is 50 m².

ROOM 422

One of our most popular meeting rooms, Room 422 has a soaring ceiling and a large window for a feeling of ease and light. With a capacity of 40 people, the space is well-suited to business meetings.

Peppered with interesting design elements like Dutch artist Claudy Jongstra's delicate felt wall and the extraordinary Sunlight lamp by Rolf Engelen. Room 422 never bores. This room can be combined with rooms 412 or 410 to accommodate breakout sessions. Room 422 is 49 m².

THE PIANO ROOM (221)

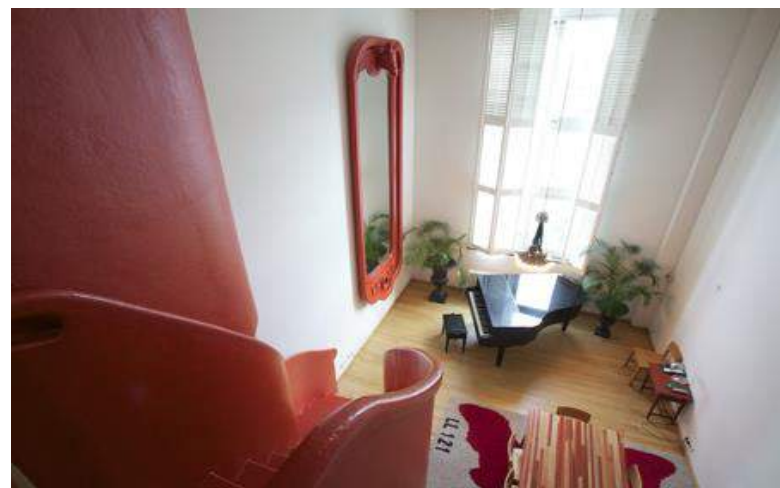

The Piano Room is a true original, doubling up as both a hotel suite and a meeting space.

Designed by acclaimed Dutch artist/designer Joep Van Lieshout, the room's spiralling red staircase and high-volume ceiling is perfect for creative inspiration for groups of up to 25 people. The piano room is 91 m².

Alicia Keys once tinkled on our Estonian grand piano, if the mood takes you, do the same!

One of our most inspiring and unconventional room: the rugged Music Room. It is tailor-made for visiting musicians or lively brainstorming sessions with hits. Soundproofed walls. TOWER ROOMS

(210 – 410 – 412 - 510)

Perhaps the most surprising of our meeting spaces, some of our largest guest rooms have character to spare. No matter your purpose, these rooms inspire off-the-wall thinking and meetings far from the everyday. Be transported back to the early days of the Lloyd in the Tower Rooms, complete with period cabinets and medicine bottles. A Tower Room is approximately 27 m².

PLATFORMS

Boasting views that stretch as far as the river Amstel, the four mezzanine platforms appear to float over the restaurant far below. Bathed in light from the stories-tall windows and the pure white floors, the platform spaces encourage freeform thinking and creative meetings. The platforms can be used individually or in combination, and are ideal for drinks, presentations, temporary exhibitions, and break-out sessions. The 4th floor platform houses our intimate art and design library. With leather armchairs and a convenient desk, the library can host small cocktail parties or business meetings. A platform is approximately 44m².

LLOYD RESTAURANT

The restaurant has a dynamic, bustling atmosphere catering for hotel guests, those living in the neighbourhood, artists and business people alike. Set in the extraordinary open space on the ground floor, it features an extensive menu of classic European cuisine.

Our food is prepared in our own kitchen, with meat and fish from sustainable sources and preferably organic vegetables, cultivated as close to home as possible. We are proud of our suppliers and we know them well. We combine classic dishes and methods of preparation with new influences and cooking techniques. With a fresh eye and vintage recipes we make contemporary dishes which may perhaps surprise you but which certainly will taste good.

The restaurant is suitable for breakfast, lunch, dinner, for large and small groups. It is possible to organize private dinners or events in the restaurant.
