Greetings from Nantucket!

The summer of 2020 will soon be here and as the long dreary days of winter retreat behind us – this is a great opportunity to start planning your perfect Nantucket vacation!

Despite the elements, we've been busy at the Nantucket Inn. Doing what? Planning for the new season – plus the cleaning, painting, hiring, training and more that go into keeping the Nantucket Inn the island's most affordable, value-packed choice. As one of the island's most family friendly resorts, we are happy to offer guest rooms that feature two double beds. And we are happy to offer the option for kids to stay free in all parent rooms – as well as enjoy free breakfast!

Throughout this newsletter – and on our website www.nantucketinn.net – you'll find solutions to most all your vacation queries. But if you do have a question give us a call, drop us an email or even pose a question on facebook. When you book direct, you deal with Nantucket Inn staff! We know and understand the complexities of traveling to Nantucket and are here to help. Other booking sites can't make that claim.

So, on behalf of all the staff, we are eager to welcome you. If you've stayed with us before, it will be a welcome return. And if this is your first trip, we know one visit is all it takes to make the Nantucket Inn your island favorite.

We look forward to your arrival.

Sincerely,

Scott Thomas,
General Manager

It's Never Too Early to Plan Your Next Nantucket Vacation!

Off the coast of Massachusetts lies the special island of Nantucket, where history lives and traditions are maintained. Nantucket is a unique and beautiful island, with miles of sandy beaches, deeply wooded moors, colorful cranberry bogs, and an entire ocean beckoning from all sides.

It's also a quaint island, where worn cobblestone streets, lined with the historic residences of whaling captains, lead to one of New England's most picturesque harbors.

And on this special island is an equally special place.
The Nantucket Inn.
